I had played the board game once with some friends, and really enjoyed it. Unfortunately, no one I am around regularly was interested in playing, so I waited, like Connor McCloud, until the time of the Gathering, when versions were finally created for the PC and the iPad. I've only played for an hour, but the AI seems to be tuned for the varying levels, and is fairly nimble. I may have missed this feature, but a readily available "ghost laser" you could turn off and on while you learn would accelerate becoming accustomed to the pieces and their angle of reflection. I am really pleased with this game. I feel like I am getting the gameboard experience I wanted, and with online multiplayer, I now have people to play it with.

Thanks Devs!. Plays 2sec, loading 10sec, plays 2 sec, loading 10sec. Not good, not even bad, just horrible. Ah a nice little short game, that was fun to get through. One of my biggest likes here was the end boss gauntlet. Oh that was SUPER enjoyable! This game is short if you are good at just under an hour, but I wholeheartedly recommend it, game on!. Very very interesting game i like it very much.. Had potential but definitely seems to have been abandoned. Not worth your money.. GGWP

-Story of There Life

-Watch And Learn How they Become a Professional Gamers

-Life Is Hard But God Is Good All the Time. Tough game.

Easy to learn. Hard to master.

Shoot to kill.

Bomb to win.. The game is fun BUT there's few problems:

1- Having to go in the pouch and click "use" EACH TIME I do an attack is ridiculous! Way too many clicks to perform an action. For the first hour or two, you don't really mind but afterwards it's very annoying.

2-The progression in the game is also problematic, the availability of new Armors and Weapons has no logic. I've been playing for hours and I'm still ONLY at the second Armor, all of the other Armor are still unavailable. On the weapons side, I'm offered the last weapon of the list but not some of the ones before ??? Why ?

3-It gets very difficult very fast.

4-Getting Gold takes way too much time. And at the end, I was going into the mazes clicking whatever only to get gold, I didn't mind about dying, I just wanted to get gold to get better weapons (and other options) just to get by some of the difficult mazes.

Overall, the game has a lot of potential but a lot of problems needs to get fix. The game is unpolished and I'm already tired of not progressing (because it's too hard).

I suggest to buy this game in a few months when they'll have fixed all these issues. (The game is not well balanced but you figure this out only after a few hours into the game)

This video shows real people from Ramnicu Valcea, Romania. They are speaking real native Romanian. We all like to see smart people sharing their experience and views, right?

Cons:

The major bad point is that the video crew went to Romania but they forgot to film some beautiful Romanian girls walking on the street, lol just kidding

. The Samurai Pack, for the inner weeb in you.. Played for about an hour and the battle system is a pretty poor, doesn't show all the enemies in the battle. They appear as you defeat what's on screen. Some enemy sprites are so small I didn't even notice them. No place to heal in the beginning of the game, so hope you get healing items from battles you survive. Since the beginning is so frustrating, I can't recommend the game.. Its a good tool, however, a very basic one i don't think, in the actual stage, it worths what is pledged on Steam now..

a clever little puzzler where you have to outsmart the ai on 96 levels by blocking its way to the squares on a hex grid. it's turn-based, presented in a minimalistic grayscale fashion, without volume sliders or properly working on/off buttons \(they reset when you restart the game\), but with new mechanics introduced on a regular basis, sometimes the ai and/or you can move twice, you can freeze or distract the ai, and so on.

most of the levels aren't too difficult, but can still be satisfying to solve, and there are a few really tricky ones, there's only one available to play at any given time, which is not ideal when you get hopelessly stuck, having 2 or 3 unsolved levels playable would've been better, the ai is stupid enough to only go for the shortest path to its goal, but I still had trouble on a few levels because I'm not too smart either, if you don't care about achievements, you can get extra moves to make your life easier.

unlimited undo was patched in after release, without which I probably wouldn't have enjoyed it as much, not that I'm a fan of trial & error gameplay, but I appreciate it when a game lets me experiment and doesn't waste my time by resetting the level \(which can be done manually at any time\) or dropping me back to level select when I fail, I could simply undo my steps and try again.

the biggest complaint I have is about the controls, once you select a 'powerup', you can't deselect or put it back, have to undo the last step of picking it up, but that also takes your last proper move back, it only breaks the level occasionally, but it's annoying most of the time, reset doesn't always reset everything properly either, and steam popups should be displayed in the top right corner because controls are on the bottom right, still, it's a fun game, worth picking up., Excellent game involving both economic and military tactics, Hot seat mode is wonderfully fun to play with a friend, Worst part of game is single player campaign mode, Heven't tried online mode, But when playing in the "hot seat" mode is a wonderful and rewarding time waster.

“I'm Not Crying, There's Something In My Eye”

“I'm Not Crying, There's Something In My Eye”. Patch Notes 27.7.X7.1:
In the latest release we have pushed some bug fixes and improvements.

Fixed:

- Display issues with 16x16 characters in all Leaderboards, Death Screen, New Character Screen
- The fall back news post (if no other news is present) no longer points to Wild Shadow forums
- New Pets from pet stones have been put into their proper pet families

Note that while these pets can be obtained via fusing, they are extremely rare. The skins can also be obtained via using the appropriate pet stone:

- Sir Bagston: ? ? ? ?
- Goldy: ? ? ? ?
- Giant Vampire Bat: Spooky
- Pumpkin Head: Spooky
- Jaco: Spooky

Putting the new pets into the proper pet families solves some issues players were encountering attempting to fuse.

Pet Stone descriptions were updated to describe the change in family of the pet, also explicitly mentioning that the rarity does not get upgraded and the skin will be overwritten in case of fusing.
